Steam Workshop : Steam Workshop support has now been added for Windows and Linux. An uploader DLC has been created for Windows to upload content to the Steam Workshop. Additional functionality is intended to be added later, and hopefully Mac OS Steamworks integration should also be made available soon.. Change to SDL2 : The default Steam Build for Windows has been changed to use SDL2 for display rendering, that should allow the Steam Overlay and Screenshots to work with Simutrans. For users that for any reason prefer to use either GDI or SDL for display rendering, the option to switch to these is in the Beta tab, however the Steam Overlay will not work in these versions of the application.. Comit in Cosmo Knight's Revenge

Land Of The Void Simutrans Upgrade to 120.4 : Simutrans has been upgraded to version 120.4 on Steam for Windows and Linux - we do not currently have a 120.4 build for Mac. For prior versions please go into the Beta settings and select the prior version you want. One of the big changes from 120.2 is the ability to use UPnP for Server hosting.. Simutrans 120.2 released : Here is the 120.2 version of simutrans. It has many new features for scripting (including scriptable ai, so everybody can make now his own AI without compiling), as well as many extensions for artists: groundobj with slopes (rocky shores) transparent graphics (better shadows and smokes, antialiasing) factory animations and sounds If you prefer to keep with the 120.1.3 build, this can be selected from the 'Beta' options.. Additional Paksets available as DLC : Four additional Paksets have been made available as DLC. These Paksets alter the graphics, and rulesets of the game. If multiple Paksets are installed, the game will prompt for which one you want to load when starting the game. The additional Paksets that have been released are: Pak64 - A smaller pakset, which is slightly easier to play. Pak128.Britain - A pakset with a british look/feel. Pak128.German - A pakset with a german look/feel Pak192.Comic - A pakset with a comic style
